Young Dracula Meets H2O

Young Dracula meets H2O

Chapter 1

Erin was packing her bags ready to go on her first holiday with Vlad on her own, when there was a knock at the door; it was Vlad he let himself in after she told him to come in a few minutes after he knocked. As she was packing she completely forgot about Vlad being in the room and she felt his arm go around her shoulder, she jumped as his arm went round her shoulder but, as soon as she knew it was him she kissed him on the cheek and smiled.

"You alright you look scared?" he asked, she nodded then looked away going to Australia must of meant something to her, but he was still confused on why she looked away he went to ask again but she stopped him saying anything by replying with,

"It's just that something happened there and I don't know if I can tell you or not" she looked away again knowing that she shouldn't keep secrets, but he would never believe her if she told him and she didn't even know if she was still what she turned into 5 years ago she thought if she was in the water at a full moon then she would lose it and she defiantly thought she got rid of it but she wasn't sure if she got rid of it but only time would tell.

Vlad looked at her, she was hiding something from him he could sense it; he removed his arm from her shoulder so it could rest on her waist then he pulled her towards him to make her look at him before asking,

"Erin what are you hiding? Tell me!"

"No Vlad! You wouldn't believe me anyway!"

"When have ever not believed you about anything?" she raised her eyebrow upwards he must have forgotten that he banished her and told her never to see him again, then he suddenly realised what he said and she saw guilt in his eyes which soon turned to apology, she kissed him to tell him that he shouldn't be sorry it should be her she knew she should have told him when he first found out she was a breather, but he now knew that she was scared on how he would react to hearing that she was a slayer straight after he found she was human.

He took her suitcase that she was carrying off her then said,

"You ready to go" she nodded, and they went into the taxi to go to the airport.

Once they got to the airport dropped off the cases and went through security, they found somewhere to eat; after they got something to eat they went to go onto the plane.

Erin was in deep thought before Vlad said,

"You should go to sleep you look exhausted."

"So do you we're going to be on this plane for about 12 hours"

"Alright I'll go to sleep in a bit okay?" she nodded and rested her head on his shoulder and about after half an hour fell asleep, and Vlad fell asleep not long afterwards.

A/N: thanks for reading hope you enjoyed and don't forget to review and check my vlad and erin series on youtube as I also have harry potter series on there as well along with jabi. Again I hoped you enjoyed.
